It is important to keep up with technological advances and with so many tailored equipment configurations and specifications on offer; it is only with the use of quality equipment that results in Australian suppliers becoming world leaders from the quality of our products.

The terms of the equipment finance loan contracts can vary between 2-5 years. It is important to structure the finance to suit the right cash flow.

The ability to use the entire finance market, we can ensure to provide our customers with the most competitive finance offerings using only the equipment as security. Unlike your bank, there will be no other security required (eg: fixed and floating charges over company assets, factory/building as collateral).
